

Love

By Annie McCausland

Love is wonderful as you know; some people like to let it show. If you look one day you will find that “love is patient and love is kind.*” “It does not envy, it does not boast*.” That’s the thing I love the most. God does not want us proud or rude because he would not be in a very good mood. For he loves me and you, I think of his love when I am blue. Loving others is really the key that’s when I hope you will really see.
