

The mouth of the righteous flows with wisdom, but the perverted tongue will be cut out.

Teacher Times

Week Twenty-eight

Day 126

March 7, 2007

- Class size survey
The school board has asked me to poll you concerning some of Cornerstone's commitments to class sizes. The specific grade they are wondering about is fourth, but we would like your input on the general subject of class sizes from several perspectives. There will be a survey in your boxes today, and I need it back by Friday, March 9, because the board meeting is Monday, March 12.
- Conference changes
In order not to conflict with other events on my over-crowded calendar, Betsy has had to reschedule some of your conferences. Please check the list on the white board in the Work Room for the latest information.
- Open House today
Wednesday morning, March 7, is an admissions Open House (the first time we've done one during school hours.) We will be visiting selected classrooms briefly. Please remind your students not to stop their work, but to continue with "business as usual."
- Choir schedule
Although Mr. Raffa will be out for the next two weeks, he has obtained a sub, Miss Christine Harper, and she will cover his class on March 7, 9, 13, and 14.
- SAT test procedures
Also watch your boxes for a new handout on Stanford Achievement testing procedures. It will come hole-punched for your convenience in adding it to your teacher manual.

"God assumed from the beginning that the wise of the world would view Christians as fools...and He has not been disappointed. ... If I have brought any message today, it is this: Have the courage to have your wisdom regarded as stupidity. Be fools for Christ. And have the courage to suffer the contempt of the sophisticated world."
--U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia
